Subject: NCI Bid Board Posting – REPORTS STORAGE

At the National Cancer Institute (NCI), The Laboratory of Pathology (LP) is an integral component of the research and clinical community. Our goal is to be a globally recognized center of excellence in disease research, clinical diagnostics, and pathology education.

LP must continue to store a certain portion of these patient materials offsite due to space limitations in building 10. LP currently archives 438.75 cubic feet (351 boxes) of research documents and clinical patient records; 1,670.12 cubic feet of paraffin embedded pathology tissue blocks, and stained slides dating back to the 1980's that are still requested for recruits and reviewed by clinical and research staff.

The National Cancer Institute plans to purchase storage and services for the Pathology Department's paper data and research specimens. This is not a request for competitive quotation. However, if any interested party believes it can meet the attached requirements, it may submit a statement of capabilities. The capability statement must be in writing and must contain information and material in sufficient detail to allow NCI to determine if the party can fully meet this requirement. The capability statement must be received in the contracting office by 11:30 AM on Mar 4, 2021 ET. A determination by the Government not to compete this requirement based upon responses to this notice is solely within the discretion of the Government. Information received will be considered solely for the purpose of determining whether to conduct a competitive procurement.

Sole Source Justification: NCI archives paper data and research specimens for services rendered for the Clinical Center. EPL is a temporary storage facility for LP.

1.0 TITLE

Storage and distribution services for 438.75 cu ft of paper research and pathology reports; and 1,670.12 cu ft of pathology paraffin embedded tissue blocks and tissue fixed slides used in the Laboratory of Pathology, CCR, NCI.

2.0 BACKGROUND

The Laboratory of Pathology provides diagnostic services for the Clinical Center at the National Institutes of Health. The department provides pathological diagnosis of specimens submitted incidental to standard care and clinical investigation of National Institutes of Health patients and submitted by outside health organizations. As a result of our clinical and research missions, pathology blocks, slides, images, and hardcopy patient reports must be stored and available indefinitely. LP must continue to store a certain portion of these patient materials offsite due to space limitations in building 10. LP currently archives 438.75 cubic feet (351 boxes) of research documents and clinical patient records; 1,670.12 cubic feet of paraffin embedded pathology tissue blocks, and stained slides dating back to the 1980's that are still requested for recruits and reviewed by clinical and research staff. EPL Archives facilities are environmentally controlled and protected against hazards, and the company provides GLP-compliant archive services and is the only storage facility we've utilized for archiving and all our materials are presently located there. LP has now been relocated as of July 2015; the onsite high-density storage facility has been renovated but is inadequate space for what has been stored offsite to remedy the storage problem. It would be beneficial to keep the materials where they're stored now unless there's a newer facility closer to the NIH Campus to make it cost effective to move all the materials. As archived material is needed, EPL provides a one-day turnaround to provide us with our necessary reports or slides, which ensures adequate turnaround times for LP's services provided to our NIH researchers and clinicians. In addition, LP's material has been stored at EPL for over a decade, and it would be unfeasible to move to another facility due to the potential cost it would take to package, inventory, and transport to another facility but we understand to find out, it must be advertised.

2.1 OBJECTIVE

Contractor will maintain written records (inventory and transaction records) on each Deposit Materials consisting of correspondence between Contractor and the Depositor, information provided by Depositor on the type of material included in the Deposit Material and designation of Depositor's ownership of the Deposit Materials. Depositor may review these records with respect to the Deposit materials, with the exception of locator codes, and copies may be obtained or originals inspected at the location where Contractor stores such records or Contractor's principal place of business.

Occasionally, the government shall request retrieval of Material for clinical or research applications, and then the Material is returned to storage (tissue blocks & slides) on some cases. Materials (tissue blocks, slides and paper) shall be stored in a climate-controlled environment at the Contractor's Storage Facility.
