Subject: NCI Bid Board Posting – Cryogenic Storage; 24K w/ CS100 Controller, 365 L, IC Biomedical

The Genitourinary Malignancies Branch focuses on investigating the biology of genitourinary cancers, developing new strategies for treating those cancers, and evaluating these new therapeutic approaches through science-driven clinical research. These clinical trials investigate novel approaches in immunotherapy, hormonal therapy, chemotherapy combinations, and small-molecule targeted therapy. This website provides all interested parties—referring physicians, cancer patients or family members interested in participating in a clinical trial, or researchers looking for collaborative opportunities—with the information they need to get started.

The primary objective is to engage in Cancer Research using various cancer cell lines but also tumor and normal tissue samples. Cell lines are derived from normal tissues and from tumors. Because it is impossible to keep all the cell lines in culture, and they need to be kept in viable and in excellent condition, cells need to be kept in cryogenic environment to preserve their viability for long time. The Liquid nitrogen tank that we are ordering will allow us to store the cell lines in the conditions described above.

The National Cancer Institute Plans to purchase Cryogenic Storage; 24K w/ CS100 Controller is a 365L tank from Terra Universal, Fullerton, California. This is not a request for competitive quotation. However, if any interested party believes it can meet the attached requirements, it may submit a statement of capabilities. The capability statement must be in writing and must contain information and material in sufficient detail to allow NCI to determine is the party can fully meet this requirement. The capability statement must be received in the contracting office by 11:30 AM on August 12, 2022. ET. A determination by the Government not to compete this requirement based upon responses to this notice is solely within the discretion of the Government. Information received will be considered solely for the purpose of determining whether to conduct a competitive procurement.

Sole Source Justification:

The liquid nitrogen storage tank TW 24K-CS100 LN2 provides easy access to stored samples and materials. It has intuitive touch controls, modular design and superior vacuum performance. This tank provides a very stable ultra-low temperature environment, which is important for long-term storage. This tank has been used by many labs and has proved its performance over time in keeping our cells in excellent condition for long time. This is important because some cell lines are derived from clonal selection, and it is difficult to reproduce these clones if lost. This vendor must be consistent with our prior sampling data. No other vendor contacted has the specific specs we need for this project.

2.0 BACKGROUND

We are starting a new lab section. The lab will be engaged in Cancer Research using various cancer cell lines but also tumor and normal tissue samples. Cell lines are derived from normal tissues and from tumors. Because it is impossible to keep all the cell lines in culture, and they need to be kept in viable and in excellent condition, cells need to be kept in cryogenic environment to preserve their viability for long time. The Liquid nitrogen tank that we are ordering will allow us to store the cell lines in the conditions described above. This equipment will be used by members of the lab, and it will be in room 12C217. Our lab is part of the Genitourinary malignancy branch of the Center of Cancer Research at the NCI.
