Subject: NCI Bid Board Posting – Service and Support Agreement -Hyperspectral Imaging System

Among the defining concepts of the Genetics Branch is one that underlies its basic research focus and others that form the foundation of its clinical and translational research activities. The concept that underlies basic research is that cancer is a genetic disease caused by genetic instability. That instability is a function of all the inherited and acquired effects that mediate plasticity and alterability at the level of DNA. The success of molecular genetics over the past two decades has been the identification of genes involved in pathways of growth and development and the identification of the mechanisms by which the normal regulation and/or products of these genes are altered in cancer. The elucidation of the necessary and sufficient factors that govern genetic instability, the description of the common and disparate themes among different types of instability, and the cataloging of distinct patterns of gene expression in tumors compared to the normal tissues from which they arise are within the purview and distinct perspective of this branch. There is, in addition, a clinical/translational mantle that this branch is called upon to shoulder.

The purpose of this acquisition is to procure the Platinum Service and Support Agreement for the Hyperspectral Imaging System. The support services plan provides the optimum mix of service features to prevent instrument downtime and deliver the fastest response when on-site services are required. With full maintenance and repair coverage, optional compliance services, and the predictive support of Remote Advisor technology, the plan is the ideal coverage to protect the throughput and productivity of our high-availability lab.

The National Cancer Institute plans to purchase the service platinum service and support agreement for the Hyperspectral Imaging System from Applied Spectral Imaging, Carlsbad, CA. This is not a request for a competitive quotation. However, if any interested party believes it can meet the attached requirements, it may submit a statement of capabilities. The capability statement must be in writing and must contain information and material in sufficient detail to allow NCI to determine if the party can fully meet this requirement. The capability statement must be received in the contracting office by 11:30 AM on June 28, 2024, ET. A determination by the Government not to compete with this requirement based upon responses to this notice is solely within its discretion. Information received will be considered exclusively to determine whether to conduct a competitive procurement.

Sole Source Justification:

GenASIs Hyperspectral Platform maintenance agreements are only offered through Applied Spectral Imaging. ASI is the manufacturer and provider of maintenance services for our current hyperspectral platform. As the original manufacturer, ASI is the only source of spare or replacement parts and software for this instrument. Only ASI and its international distributors are trained and able to perform service on this instrument in North America.
