

The National Cancer Institute Center to Reduce Cancer Health Disparities (CRCHD)
Professional Development and Mock Review Workshop:
*Building an Independent Career in Scientific Research

June 8-9, 2015

NCI Shady Grove Campus, 9609 Medical Center Drive, Rockville, MD 20850

The CRCHD Professional Development and Mock Review Workshop for CRCHD trainees, using a format of informative presentations and interactive discussions, aims to enhance participants' professional development and assist attendees in developing and maximizing strategies to meet and advance career goals.

Please note that this event is by invitation only for CRCHD trainees.

Professional Development and Mock Review Workshop Objectives:

1. Promote professional interactions and networking among participants, NCI program staff and other NCI officials involved in the grants process.
2. Increase awareness/knowledge of current NCI/NIH funding opportunities, NCI/NIH intramural research and training opportunities, grant-related policies, guidelines and other relevant information.
3. Highlight research findings in basic, behavioral, translational, and clinical cancer research.
4. Strengthen fundamental building blocks to a successful research career, emphasizing mentorship, clarity in career development goals, and development of a versatile set of professional skills.
5. Experience the NIH peer review process via a Mock Review.
